NOTICES REGARDING MEAT INSPECTION

DIVERTING CARS OF UNMARKED MEAT

The meat-inspection regulations permit unmarked meat in cars bearing department seals to be shipped to other official establishments for further processing. When meat is forwarded under this permission it is very important for bureau inspectors to know in advance the point of final destination.

Hereafter when a car bearing department seals is diverted from the original destination shown on the shipper's request for sealing, the shipper shall immediately communicate by wire or other quick means of communication with the bureau inspectors in charge at the points of shipment, original destination and new destination, and furnish these three inspectors with the information as follows:

Number and initials of car.

Kind and amount of articles in car.

Official number of establishment from which car was shipped.

Official number of establishment to which car was originally destined.

Official number of establishment to which car was diverted.

BORAXED MEATS FOR SCOTLAND

Under the public health (preservatives, etc., in food) regulations of Scotland of 1925, as amended July 1, 1927, bacon, ham, etc., containing preservatives such as borax are prohibited sale in Scotland. Therefore, the use of borax should be discontinued on meats shipped from the United States for consumption in Scotland. However, inspectors in charge will issue preservative certificates at exporters' risk for meats packed in borax for Scotland, provided that for each consignment the exporter shows on his application (M. I. Form 116-A) that the meat is intended for reexport from Scotland in accordance with the Scottish regulations.

CALENDARS FOR 1928

Officers in charge and individuals reporting direct to Washington will please indicate in their stores requisitions for December 1 orders for the wall calendars they will require for the year 1928. One wall calendar should be sufficient for each room occupied as office or laboratory, and orders should be for a minimum number.

The bureau has discontinued the purchase of desk calendar pads and stands for field stations. However, stations now equipped with such stands may procure pads for the same for 1928 by ordering on their stores requisitions for December 1 the number required, indicating the make of the stand for which intended—that is, whether Gem, Handy, Daily, etc. These calendars and pads may not be forwarded with the other supplies ordered on such requisitions, but an effort will be made to get them to the stations before the first of the new year.

In this connection attention is called to the notice headed "Advertising matter not allowed in Government offices," in Service and Regulatory Announcements for November, 1915, page 127.
